Conference Overview

A glance through this agenda will reveal a wide range of topics to provide plenty of interest and relevance to all GxP records managers and archivists.

There are sessions on data integrity, digital archiving, inspection strategies, data protection, information governance, and artificial intelligence and machine learning.

HSRAA is also pleased to be able once again to have an MHRA speaker present on their latest perspectives on the regulations. The conference will also include the HSRAA AGM and feature updates on progress from the HSRAA's own Special Interest Groups.

Not only is this conference a great opportunity to network with like-minded industry colleagues, but we think you'll agree that this is an agenda not to miss! Places are limited so please book early to avoid disappointment

1. HSRAA has only a limited number of rooms available at The St. David’s Hotel. Once these places have been filled, you will only be able to attend by purchasing day delegate passes and making your own accommodation arrangements, either at the conference hotel or elsewhere. If full payment has not been received and additional bookings are received for the full delegate rate, preference will be given to delegates paying in full immediately. For this reason, we strongly recommend booking early and ensuring your payment is made promptly. For our last three conferences, the full delegate passes have been sold out.
2. HSRAA is unable to book additional nights for delegates on your behalf or to provide accommodation arrangements that differ from that described above. Please contact the hotel directly for any accommodation arrangements that are not covered by the standard rates outlined above.
3. During the booking process you may choose to pay for your conference booking by credit or debit card. To minimise our administrative overheads, we only provide an invoice for payment by BACS or cheque in exceptional circumstances. To guarantee your conference place in the event of high demand, HSRAA recommends that payment is made online using a corporate or personal credit/debit card.

Bookings for this event close on 25th April 2019; no bookings can be taken after this date as numbers for accommodation, day-delegates, dinner and other refreshments will have been confirmed with the hotel. To minimise costs and streamline processes, conference reservations are taken only online at <http://the-hsraa.org>
